

MANUAL TRAINING SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Class of Forty-Seven Received
Diplomas at the Odeon
Last Night.

C. H. FESSENDEN WON MEDAL.

Three Samuel Cupples Scholarships in Washington University Were Awarded to Members of the Class.

The class of 1902, Manual Training School, Washington University, received their diplomas last night at the Odeon, where a large audience assembled to witness the ceremonies. Charles H. Fessenden won the Sellow gold medal. He also received one of the three Samuel Cupples scholarships, which went to the class. Clarence W. Allen and Charles S. Crawford received the other two scholarships in Washington University.

Grant Beebe of Chicago, who was graduated from Manual Training School, class of 1891, delivered an address in which he pointed out that this institution has wrought an educational revolution. Twenty years ago, when Mr. Beebe came from Chicago to take a course, it was one of the few schools of its kind in the country. Since then it has been accepted as a model by hundreds of similar institutions in all parts of America.

The manual graduate is making America what it is in engineering and applied mechanical arts, Mr. Beebe said. He knows how to do the right thing in the right way, and the result is that the United States leads the world.

Members of the graduating class read essays, to which close attention was given. Charles H. Fessenden on "Beautifying the City," Clarence W. Allen on "Manual Training as a Preparation for Business," Charles S. Crawford on "American Forestry," and Clarence G. Parker on "Incidents of the Class of 1902."

Mr. Parker referred to his fellows as a group of "sweet boy graduates," and told stories on various members of the class whose aggregate weight, he remarked, was three and one-half tons. Jokes upon members of the faculty seemed to be enjoyed as much by the professors, who sat upon the stage, as they were by the class, and the great body of students in the audience. The latter punctuated many of the good words by giving the "yell" yell. Songs by the Glee Club, and selections by the Mandolin Club were encored repeatedly.

In awarding the Sellow medal to Charles H. Fessenden, Director C. M. Woodward called attention to the remarkably high average Mr. Fessenden had made in the three-year course, a fraction more than 90 per cent. Incidentally reference was made to the fact that the "yell" yell. Songs by the Glee Club, and selections by the Mandolin Club were encored repeatedly.

UP IN MINNESOTA
The Women Know How.

Food, and good food, is the right kind of foundation to build good health on. A Minnesota woman writes, "I thought I would like to tell you of the good Grape-Nuts has done for me."

"Last winter I got sick and kept getting weaker and weaker. I could not eat anything but some crackers and a little cup of tea for every meal, then I was put on Grape-Nuts and used it with some cream for breakfast. My stomach got strong gradually and before I had used three packages my digestion was so good that I could eat any kind of food, even cabbage, pastry, etc., and I notice that my memory is very much better than it used to be."

"On the 24th of July I weighed 112 pounds and two months later, after using Grape-Nuts, I weighed 132 pounds and was able to do my housework."

"This is a good, honest statement of facts about Grape-Nuts and you can publish my name if you like. Mrs. C. E. Fredrickson, Center City, Minn."

WRIT OF MANDAMUS DENIED.
City May Prohibit Construction of Buildings Beyond Wharf Line.

Much importance is attached by the Board of Public Improvements to the action of the State Supreme Court yesterday in denying a writ of mandamus against the Commissioner of Public Buildings, to the Citizens Electric Light, Heat and Power Company. The denial virtually establishes the right of the city to restrain construction of buildings beyond the wharf line. The right of the city to restrain construction of buildings beyond the wharf line. The right of the city to restrain construction of buildings beyond the wharf line.

Peru, Ind., June 18.—Clarence Gillispie, a young mother, whose home is in Glasgow, Pa., died last night from a bullet wound received on Sunday in a saloon from John Haynes, a negro. Haynes is now in jail and extra guards have been placed nightly in the jail to prevent a threatened lynching.

Patrolman Degan Pelted With Stones While Making Arrest.

Patrolman Frank Degan of the North Market Street Station was forced last night to fight a mob of men and boys, who were trying to take from him Martin Danford, arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace. The mob pelted the policeman with stones and his coat and trousers were cut with a knife.

Danford made a desperate effort to get away from Patrolman Degan. He pulled his revolver and tried to shoot the policeman, but the shot missed. Degan then fired and struck the mob with the head with it, inflicting a fracture of the skull. Danford was removed to the City Hospital.

Crank With Revolver Gets Into Trouble at Washington.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Washington, June 18.—With a tale of love troubles on his lips, an hallucination of a member of the press in his mind, and a 38-caliber revolver in his pocket, Cary J. McAllister called at the White House this afternoon and demanded to see President Roosevelt. The doorkeeper declined to let him in. He told them he lived at 46 Grand street, Newark, N. J., and was 45 years old. He probably would have related more, but they told him to tell his troubles to the police. He did so and was locked up pending an examination of his mental condition.

"WORN OUT IN MIND AND BODY."

Pe-ru-na Tones Up the Entire System by Cleansing the Mucous Surfaces of the Whole Body.

MR. HUGH McLAUGHLIN

Mr. Hugh McLaughlin, 255 Coak street, San Antonio, Texas, official stenographer of the U. S. Court, Western District of Texas, writes:

"My official duties have at times required constant attention and application about eighteen hours out of twenty-four. After a week of exertion I have found myself so worn-out in mind and body that it seemed that I must give up."

"Last winter at the close of session of court, the severest in my experience, I was simply a physical wreck, unable to eat or sleep. In my extremity a messenger of help came in the shape of one of your little booklets. I read it with interest, and that night bought a bottle of Peruna. It seemed a veritable elixir of life to me and I only took it for three weeks to renew my strength."—Hugh McLaughlin.

In systemic catarrh there is more or less catarrh of every organ in the body. The catarrh may have originated in the head or throat, but it has finally pervaded the whole system. It produces a wretched condition.

The mucous membranes of the whole body refuse to do their work properly. The lungs are weak; the voice husky. The tonsils are red and inflamed. The stomach does not digest food well. The liver acts sluggishly. The nervous system gradually becomes deranged.

Peruna strengthens weak nerves, not by temporarily stimulating them, but by removing the cause of weak nerves—systemic catarrh. This is the only cure that lasts. Remove the cause; nature will do the rest. Peruna removes the cause.

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. As soon as Peruna removes systemic catarrh the digestion becomes good, appetite regular, nerves strong, and trouble vanishes.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, president of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.
